ABSTRACT. A collection of five thousand pteridophytes at DBN labelled "Baker's ferns from Australia, New Zealand and India" has been catalogued. The collectors represented are listed here and an indication of the areas represented by each collector is given. The collection may have been assembled for the Colonial and Indian Exhibition in London in 1886.

INTRODUCTION

There is a collection of pteridophytes in the Irish National Herbarium held in seventy folios and containing about five thousand specimens. The collection is labelled, "Baker's Ferns from Australia, New Zealand and India". All but two of the folios contain temperate and tropical ferns arranged and named according to Hooker and Baker (1874). The remaining two folios contain specimens of fern allies. Earlier estimates of the number of specimens in the collection would seem to have overlooked the fact that two or more specimens are mounted on many of the sheets.

The following entry, dated 8 November 1916, is written in the herbarium register, (Reg. No., 394);

"A large collection of Ferns and Fern Allies, 70 vols. (2,000-3,000 specimens) chiefly from India, West Indies and New Zealand. Many of the specimens determined by Mr. J. G. Baker, F.R.S. The collection was exhibited at the Colonial Exhibition in London in 1885 [sic.] and came into possession of the Bot. Division in 1890. See Catalogue of the collection in Herbarium 1891".

The "catalogue" to which reference is made in the register, is a list prepared by Prof. T. Johnson (1891) of the principal collections in the herbarium in 1891; the entry which refers to the ferns in question is paraphrased in the first two sentences of the register entry, above. No reference to the ferns was found in the official catalogue of the Colonial and Indian Exhibition held in London in 1886.

In his report for the year 1899 the Director of the Science and Art Museum, Valentine Ball (1890) stated that a very large collection of Indian Ferns were obtained by purchase on the recommendation of the late Dr. McNab. W. R. McNab had died in 1899.

Despite the conflicting dates for acquisition and the varied and imprecise nature of the references, there can be little doubt that the published references and the register entry are all concerned with the same collection of ferns.

The collection has been catalogued and the following list of collectors extracted. Initials have been given in all cases where they are known and omitted when they were in doubt; those in brackets were not written with the surname on the specimens. An indication of the areas represented by the collector is given. Place names are given as they are on the sheets and not updated.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We would like to thank Dr. E. C. Nelson for information about various collectors and for the Johnson (1891) reference which led to the register entry.
